Feminism in a post-#MeToo era.

Women: one of today's burning topics. The news seems like a sea of information relating to feminism and women. As if these topics were in the very air when the #MeToo scandal broke out, unleashing an impetus toward equality. Since then, everything having to do with women's lives has resurfaced: their place in the workforce, equal pay and employment, hiring diversity and the concept of quotas. The issues of female leadership, careers, and management. Parenthood, couplehood, concerns about motherhood and fatherhood.
