"This is going to sound weird coming from a psychologist, but don't worry: everything is going to be fine!"

Adolescence is a risky time. Prevention essential, and concerns all teens!

Serious information from teen specialist Gourion and Muzo's highly effective illustrations come together alchemically in this full-color comic. With humor and humanity, these creators stage, in images, an initial psychological consultation in which many issues teens face are addressed in very subtle ways: addiction, depression, harassment, regulating emotions, and defusing parental conflict.
