Shrink to the size of a bug and study fruits up close. Can you guess what each one is?

My thin skin shines in the spring sun. My red juice stains clothes. Who am I? A cherry!

Discover fruits in this large-format book. Each riddle consists of a close-up of a fruit's outside, a two-page spread of its insides, and a step back to reveal its full shape, together with the plant from which it grows. The fruits slowly reveal their identities even as insects discover them from the inside out thanks to clever cut-outs on the pages.
