The four principles of Toltec wisdom will help you live in harmony with yourself and others. Adapted for the concerns of children ages 6-7.

One day, Lupita is out playing in the woods when her friends make fun of her. She is deeply hurt and doesn't understand why they did what they did. Ruben, Diego, and Itzel are about to learn that the words we use always have an effect on others, and must be chosen carefully. They will also understand a precept from their ancestors, the Toltecs: "speak impeccably."

- This series dramatizes Toltec principles in well-meaning modern stories.

- A character experiences an upsetting situation in the course of daily life, but receives guidance from the village shaman toward resolving the issue by using the four Toltec principles.
