What if the young generation changed the world? Blackbone is a thriller series that tackles important issues head-on, raising our awareness of them.

Marie, a journalism major, cofounded the Blackbone collective last year with an Italian reporter and Leo, a hacker her age. Together, the three foiled Luca Snyder's scheme to sell a "green" phone whose materials were in fact inequitably extracted from African mines. Next, Blackbone investigated the fast fashion industry, especially in Vietnam. In Green Traffic, Marie studies abroad in Brazil, where she meets Céya, a native whose family is threatened by deforestation, and Joaquin, the son of rich land owners. Unbeknownst to her, Marie has landed right in the middle of a political plot orchestrated by Luca Snyder.
