For many years now, we've been using more resources than the planet provide.

It would take 5 planets for everyone in the world to lived like people in the United States, 2.8 if if they lived like people in France. This is a situation of dire emergency. An effective, applicable, and solution for today is sorting and recycling. These must become the duty of each and every citizen all over the world, no matter how young. The same goes for companies, politicians, and those in power, who must step up their commitment, their actions, and their activism. The goal of this book is to give new impetus to a vital and cooperative movement.
