A spectacular look at this fascinating period and the women who shaped it.

The Roaring Twenties belong to women; painters, fashion designers, patrons, scientists, singers, dancers... The end of World War I paved the way for an era of euphoria and emancipation. For the first time, women had the chance to live freely. Without necessarily being activists, they dared to be themselves, in so doing blazing a trail for the women who came after them, even before the rise of feminism.
