Put on your mask and snorkel, dive underwater, and discover marine life! Beautifully illustrated by Peggy Nille, with 3D glasses.

Did you know that plants account for 99.6% of all living matter on earth? Or that animals (including humans) only represent 0.04% of this biomass...? How big is a whale in buses? Which species have the longest life expectancy? How can you illustrate industrial fishing waste? This book explores all these questions and more through colorful and captivating infographics. A non-fiction book for children and grown-ups alike!
