A playful and witty reinvention of Mary Shelley's classic, adapted for young readers.

Elizabeth isn't thrilled about moving into the Frankenstein mansion, where her mother has been hired as a governess. Victor, the family's young son, is obsessed with science, while her passion is journalism. Everything changes when a famous inventor visits their class to announce a science competition: the winner will join the country's most prestigious academy. Victor is willing to do anything to win, even conducting strange experiments that lead him to wander the village cemetery at night...
