Living with HIV: sharing your story to move forward.

Blanche, a dedicated nurse and single mother, raises her children alone. In a heartfelt conversation with her daughter, Blanche reveals a secret she's kept for thirty years. She shares her journey of battling the HIV, dealing with shame, and answering difficult questions. Despite challenges, she talks about her marriage, studies, activism, and the strength to move forward from her bitter past and still-challenging present. Blanche is a personal account with a historical perspective on HIV, a message full of information, prevention and hope for marginalized people.
